Mayor Healy to Present More than 700 Toys to Needy Jersey City Families

City Employees and Corporate Good Neighbors Donate
Hundreds of Toys to Make Holidays Brighter for those in Need

JERSEY CITY – In the tradition of giving this holiday season, Mayor Jerramiah T. Healy along with Santa will bring smiles to children’s faces in the 11th Annual Toy Drive from 5 to 8 p.m. on Wednesday, December 12 at 280 Grove Street, City Hall Council Chambers.

The Mayor’s Annual Toy Drive, organized by the Mayor’s Action Bureau, will distribute more than 700 toys this year to children of underprivileged families in Jersey City who have pre-registered for the toy distribution program. Over the course of the past eleven years, the Mayor’s Action Bureau has collected and handed out thousands of toys to children throughout the city.

“The greatness of this city lies with its people,” said Mayor Healy. “I am proud that our community does so much for one another and in the true spirit of the holiday season, there has been an outpouring of generosity and overwhelming support. Working together as one community, we can make the holidays a little brighter for some of our residents.”

As in years past, Jersey City’s corporate community has given greatly to the Toy Drive, as have the employees of the City of Jersey City.
